AN ATTRACTIVE PROPOSITION

At The Silk Yard, stylish living comes as standard. As the cornerstone of the wider Castleward Urban Village regeneration, this upcoming development will be the destination for living amongst a younger generation of professionals wanting to reside in a prime city centre spot.

As Derby's profile grows, so do the prospects for the city's property market. With a myriad of regeneration schemes underway, this has the potential to push property values by up to 19.7% by 2027.

CRAFTED BY INNOVATION

A day spent in Derby is not complete without a look into the city's colourful past.

The River Derwent has always played an integral part in Derby's history of innovation. In 1717 the first silk mill in England was built on its banks by John Lombe and for over a century, the Old Silk Mill was the town's largest employer.

The invention of steam powered rail also left an indelible mark on the fabric of the city, with the Midland Railway company making Derby its home and becoming Britain's third largest operator by the turn of the century.

With roots dating back to the industrial era, Derby has built an expansive collection of global manufacturers, including Rolls-Royce, Bombardier Transportation and Toyota, to name a few.

This history of industry and innovation continues to drive the city forward and makes Derby a place facing a bright future.

DESTINATION DERBY

A CULTURED LIFE

What signifies a leading UK city? Opportunity, connectivity and above all, a thriving culture. 'City Culture' can vary, but one thing remains constant - authentic hospitality complemented by leading global brands. Derby surpasses all expectations, with an iconic shopping centre and expansive independent presence striking a unique city culture.

The Derbion is an anchor in the city's retail sector, housing premium brands from Hugo Boss to Flannels, as well as city staples, such as H&M and All Saints. With the addition of restaurants, theatres and cinemas, the Derbion has established the city as a leading destination for living, working and shopping.

ALL SEWN UP

Derby is a destination for retail therapy, and for every designer brand the city houses, it has several independent businesses. A stroll down Sadler Gate offers just a glimpse of Derby's ambitious collection of unique retailers. Whether you're looking for one-off pieces or vintage steals, you won't need to look far - Derby strikes the perfect balance of premium names and one-of-a-kind brands.

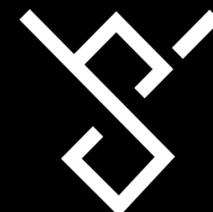

Bustler Market is another treasure within the city. Located within Derby's newest and biggest destination for independent events, Bustler Market gets its name from the hustle and bustle of these vibrant occasions. As well as hosting some of the UK's best street food traders, you can expect good beer and even better company.

This independent hotspot is just a taste of what Derby has to offer. Not only does the city host a plethora of independent retailers, it is also known for its unique hospitality offering. From quaint coffee shops, to authentic eateries, and live entertainment, it's no surprise that Derby is an increasingly popular destination amongst a range of demographics.

GO FAR

Anchored in the centre of Derby, The Silk Yard directly benefits from the city's connectivity.

A 15-minute walk to Derby train station, serving Northern powerhouses Manchester and Leeds, and providing regular services to the capital in just 90 minutes, Derby as a whole, not only appeals to the young professionals of the city, but both inward and outward commuters.

Located just 42 miles from the UK's second city and 15 miles from Nottingham, Derby is a hub for inward commuters. With over 25,000 employees travelling to the city for work from the wider region, Derby has the most inward commuters across the country.

East Midlands Airport is accessible in under half an hour by road, meaning international travel links are always to hand. East Midlands Airport serves 90 destinations around the world - an exciting prospect for residents of The Silk Yard.

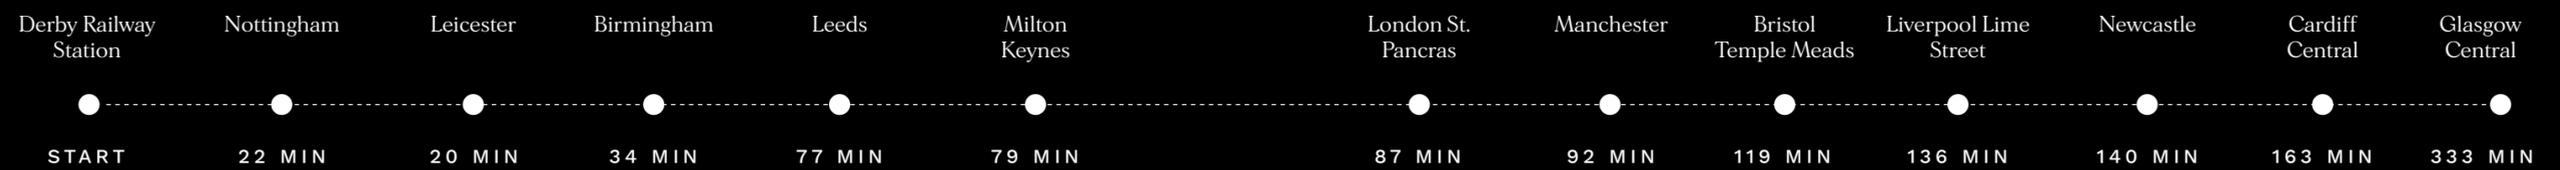

This connectivity is not only attracting new demographics to the city, it's also keeping them in the East Midlands.
